13th European Wood-based Panel Symposium

You would like to obtain information on the most important trends and current challenges in the wood-based materials industry? You are looking for a forum in which you, as a manufacturer, supplier or user, can exchange ideas and establish networks through intensive discussions? Around 320 participants from 28 nations worldwide made use of this opportunity at the previous Symposium.

You, too, can be part of the Symposium, which has become an established fixture in the global wood-based materials industry! From October 9-11, 2024, the Fraunhofer WKI and the European Panel Federation (EPF) are organizing the renowned networking event for the 13th time in cooperation with the iVTH - International Association for Technical Issues Related to Wood and Hywax GmbH.

Register as a participant, apply as a speaker with a presentation on one of the main topics, or become a sponsor and additionally present your company at the exhibition which accompanies the conference!

Call for papers

We would like to invite you to submit an abstract for an oral presentation suitable to the above main topics via our conference website www.european-wood-based-panel-symposium.org. The deadline for submissions is February 29, 2024.

A top-class networking event that provides important impulses far beyond the bounds of the event!«

Head of the Organization Committee

Accompanying exhibition | Sponsorship

Parallel to the symposium there will be an accompanying technical exhibition. In addition to the presentation of your company and products, you as an exhibitor traditionally support the welcome evening in the hotel as a sponsor.

All sponsors will additionally be presented with their company logo on our website, at the welcome evening on roll-ups and table displays as well as in the conference documents. If you are interested in a sponsorship with participation in the exhibition accompanying the conference, you can request the relevant information directly. Please contact us via our conference website.
